

Contractors who may assist with auditing of Essential Safety Measures

Buildings of a commercial nature have essential safety measures that must be maintained for the safety of building occupants and the welfare of businesses. Owners may engage the services of companies with adequate knowledge of essential safety measures to assist in this process.

The Shire has a responsibility under legislation to enforce building safety and may issue fines for non-compliance. This may include safety measures not being maintained and an Annual Report not being completed and available for inspection.
